For many women, pregnancy and childbirth can be an exciting but complicated time in their lives. As a woman with children, I understand the certain difficulties that may arise with a woman's health and pregnancy. I want my patients, to feel completely supported, cared for and understood after every consultation.

As I am absolutely passionate about Obstetrics, I understand the importance of active listening with my patients in order to really give them the advice they are seeking. I also offer a Pre-pregnancy consultations, as it is helpful to address any health issues prior to becoming pregnant, during this visit I cover the influences of diet, exercise, lifestyle factors, supplements and vaccinations, as well as undertaking a full Health check. This is a useful way of optimising health ahead of pregnancy

My practice has a relaxed and friendly atmosphere where women and their partners feel comfortable discussing their health concerns. I always want my patients to be well informed and feel well taken care of, and most especially, supported and well understood. Apart from my Private Practice, I am also a Lecturer with the Macquarie University Medical School and part of the Severe Complications of Pregnancy clinic at RNSH. I always strive to use my Medical/ Surgical expertise and my personal pregnancy and parenting experience to help parents to be, in every way possible.
