Dr Claire Egbers is a Consultant Paediatrician with a special interest in general and developmental paediatrics and neonatal medicine. She is committed to working closely with families to support their children in their development and health.

Dr Egbers currently works at Northern Beaches Hospital as a Consultant Paediatrician in paediatrics and neonates.

Dr Egbers completed her undergraduate training in South Africa and on moving to Australia completed her specialist paediatric training within the Sydney Children's Hospital Network. She has worked as a staff specialist at Liverpool Hospital and as a Consultant at Manly and Mona Vale Hospitals prior to our move to the Northern Beaches Hospital.

Outside of work Claire balances her work with time with her family including her two kids spending downtime drawing and creating and spending as much time in the ocean as possible.

Claire's special interests include:

- Acute paediatric and neonatal medicine
- Care of newborns and their families
- Assessment and management of developmental and behavioural concerns

Practice philosophies

Dr Egber's philosophy is to provide warm and holistic care to children and their families taking into consideration all factors that impact on their health and wellbeing.
