Dr Cathy Lee is an experienced female Specialist Obstetrician and Gynaecologist in the North Shore area who provides compassionate and supportive care to all her patients. She has achieved a broad and diverse range of knowledge as she has trained and worked in both China and Australia, giving her extensive clinical experience and wide-ranging surgical skills.

Over the last 10 years at the Sydney Adventist Hospital, Dr Lee has developed a busy private practice in both obstetrics and gynaecology with the support of her colleagues and patients. To deliver continued excellent care and increased convenience for all patients, Dr Lee has moved her main consulting clinic to Suite 207, St Leonards Square, 490 Pacific Highway, St Leonards. Dr Lee will continue to see obstetric patients on Fridays at Suite 301, 16-18 Cambridge Street, Epping. Both clinics are close to public transport services of buses and trains. The St Leonards' clinic has 2 hours of free parking underneath the St Leonards Square building. The Epping clinic has access to 2 hours of free street parking.

The philosophy of Dr Lee's private practice is to provide each patient with optimum care, as well as involving them in the important decisions regarding their condition and its management. She respects each patient's individual religious and cultural background and endeavours to deliver comprehensive care and a tailored plan to suit them.
