Dr Simmer Gill is a Sydney based female Obstetrician and Gynaecologist who operates and delivers from the Sydney Adventist Hospital. Dr Gill's training has been based at The Canberra & Calvary Hospitals, Royal North Shore Hospital and its peripheral hospitals (Hornsby, Mona Vale, Manly, Ryde and Gosford).

Although Dr Gill has a special interest in high risk pregnancy, including those complicated with medical problems and VBAC births, her emphasis remains on health and safety of mums and their babies. Being a postgraduate in ENT surgery previously gives her added advantage of acquiring excellent laparoscopic and general surgical skills. She also has a special interest in menstrual disorders, abnormal Pap smears and post-menopausal health issues.

She is married with 3 children and this assists her to understand the needs of women and their families. Living locally only minutes away from the SAN makes Dr Gill readily available for the unpredictable world of obstetrics.
