Referral

The Obstetric Haematology Clinic provides specialist consultation and management of common haematology problems in pregnancy, including:

- Peripartum anticoagulation management
- Investigation and management of thrombocytopenia in pregnancy
- Evaluation of a patient with suspected bleeding diathesis
- Evaluation of a patient with suspected thrombophilia
- Management of the antenatal patient with recent venous or arterial thromboembolism
- Investigation and monitoring of maternal red cell alloantibodies in pregnancy
- Management of refractory iron deficiency +/- anaemia in pregnancy
- Management of hereditary haemoglobinopathies in pregnancy

Patients are scheduled according to clinical urgency and contacted with appointment details. Other acute referrals will be considered on receipt of referral. We will contact the GP if we are unable to review a referred patient.
